AWARDS CEREMONY

15 JULY 2009

Awards Ceremony

15 July 2009

The Board of Governors and Academic Board of the University wish to express their thanks to the Dean and Chapter of Coventry Cathedral for allowing this ceremony to be held in the Cathedral Church of Saint Michael and for the cooperation of Cathedral staff in making arrangements for the ceremony. Donations to the Cathedral may be made using the appropriate collection boxes which will be available as you leave the Cathedral.

THE ARMORIAL BEARINGS OF COVENTRY UNIVERSITY

For centuries a recognised heraldic device, the Phoenix denotes a continual renewal of life. It is always shown as a demi-eagle arising from the flames - a particularly appropriate emblem for the City of Coventry, to whose armorial bearings a Phoenix was added by Garter King of Arms in 1959. Already used as the badge of the University, it occupies the main part of the shield which is the essential centre-piece of any coat of arms. The sun shedding its light from above is the universal symbol of education and enlightenment, and completes the basic imagery of the University. To ensure clear outlines, in heraldry the metals, gold and silver ('or' and 'argent'), are always contrasted with a colour, in this case blue ('azure').

The supporters of the shield also indicate local associations: the white horse of Lady Godiva and the bear which traditionally holds the ragged staff in the arms of Warwickshire - though here freed of its muzzle and chain. Each holds a tilting spear alluding to that in the arms of William Shakespeare, and the pennons flying from these spears indicate by the book and cog wheel the twin spheres of academic and technological learning.

Principally used to flank the arms of peers of the realm, supporters are also granted to eminent corporate bodies such as the University, when the closed steel helm is used to surmount the shield, distinguishing the arms from those of a peer, whose helm would be barred with gold. Fixed to the helm is the crest, sitting within the twisted wreath of the principal metal and colour of the arms, from which flows out the decorative mantling of the same tinctures.

The crest (not to be confused with the 'arms' on the shield) is an important survival of the medieval tournament: an additional mark of recognition raised above the clash of battle. The Coventry University crest has at its centre the terrestrial globe indicative of the University's international standing. Finally, the motto 'Arte et Industria' sums up these activities.

FOCUS

Friends of Coventry University

Congratulations on your achievement!

We hope you are justly proud of your qualification from Coventry University and that you enjoyed your time here. Graduation does not mean the end of your association with the University. Coventry University has played a big part in your life and we hope that it will continue to do so. When you completed your studies at Coventry you became an alumnus of this University. As such, the Alumni Office is now your main link with the University, and it's our role to help you stay in touch with the University and each other, as well as keeping you up to date with the latest Coventry news.

As a member of your alumni association, called Friends of Coventry University (FOCUS), you will be kept informed of the University news through the biannual alumni magazine and a monthly e-newsletter. You will also be invited to exclusive alumni events and have access to the award winning library and careers advice. These are only a few of the many benefits, for further information contact the Alumni Team on +44 (0)24 7688 8589, email alumni@coventry.ac.uk or visit www.coventry.ac.uk/alumni

If you have not already done so, please visit our stand or speak to one of our representatives today and ensure your contact details are up to date so you receive the benefits from this free membership. Details can also be updated online at www.coventry.ac.uk/alumni. All details updated before 31 July 2009 will be entered into a prize draw.

This is your association and we want to hear from you.

The Chancellor of the University will invite the Vice Chancellor of the University to address the assembly.

The Chancellor will close the proceedings.

The assembled company is asked to stand while the Procession leaves the Cathedral.

Meanwhile there is the Grand March from Aida by Giuseppe Verdi played on the organ.

Organist Kerry Beaumont

Coventry University is proud to hold its award ceremonies in the Cathedral Church of St Michael. The present Cathedral was consecrated on 25 May 1962, eight years after work on it first began. It stands next to the ruins of the old Cathedral which was destroyed during the Second World War in November 1940.

The new Cathedral was designed by Sir Basil Spence. Notable features include the Graham Sutherland tapestry; the Baptistry window by John Piper and Patrick Reyntiens; the engraved glass West Screen by John Hutton; the lectern eagle by Dame Elisabeth Frink; the high altar cross by Geoffrey Clarke, and of course Sir Jacob Epstein's imposing sculpture of St Michael and the Devil outside the Cathedral, above the Cathedral steps.

The background of the entire page is a dark blue, textured damask pattern. It features intricate, repeating floral and foliate motifs, including large scrolls, leaves, and clusters of flowers, all rendered in a slightly lighter shade of blue to create a subtle relief effect.
